

There was a big cloud of smoke above the city.
The sun was shining, but it couldn't get through.

One day there was a big metropolis, which consisted of four huge cities. There was a big cloud of smoke above these cities. The sun was shining, but it couldn't get through.

Suddenly a massive, dark circle appeared above the metropolis. Nobody expected something like that, but the most important thing was that the cloud of smog disappeared. Some citizens thought it was a UFO. The rest said that it was kind of a sign from God. The first fear was correct. For about few minutes the circle was going down to the earth. Then everybody knew it was a UFO. It landed. Police officers from all the metropolis came. About ten minutes after the landing the door of the UFO opened. Everybody expected the worst. When the door opened from the dark of the interior approached a little, green (cute) thing. The extraterrestrials left the ship and were coming straight to the centre of the metropolis. They were bulletproof, so the policemen couldn't shoot them. When the monsters came to the centre they climbed on the top of a building. Then one of them, probably the captain said to the citizens- "Clean the earth! Your city is the most polluted place in the entire galaxy. Nobody knows the consequences. Please, clean your planet and everybody will be happy".

This accident shocked all the metropolitans. After that the extraterrestrials flew away. The citizens said that it was a poignant problem so they started caring of the earth.

Ten years after this accident the metropolis is clean and the cloud of smog disappeared forever.

Please, clean your cities from trash because some day a UFO can visit you. Anyway, there were more incidents like that, with the same character, and the same consequences, but only in this example there was a big craze on this point. The metropolis have over 30 million citizens and all of them saw the weird situation. It doesn't matter if it was on TV or in real life. Everyone recognized the message. Do what you have to so.

Don't be lazy and clean our earth now!

Adrian Bojar class IC