

There was a big cloud of smoke above the city.

The sun was shining, but it couldn't get through.

This story is about a "Wonder City". After hundreds of years of "Great war of the earth" people decide to create one big city that will connect the people. This time everything was great and people could finally live without fear. There was no more crime or vandalism, but that "Wonder City" couldn't be perfect for the rest of the earth's life. There was one big problem that people were not aware of- the smog. It was created by millions of factories and billions of houses. The cloud of smog was so big, that it covered the entire "Wonder City". The sun couldn't get through it. Without the sun the trees couldn't make oxygen. People started to have problems with breathing and their physical condition. People started to panic and were scared. They tried to fix it, but it was too late to make the cloud of smog disappear. People started to commit crimes, because they were scared of the situation.

The government of the city decided to divide the city into three districts: the first one "Maia"- was the place, where the rich and important people lived, the second one "Rose"- the place where normal people lived , but they were not as important as the first ones. Finally the third one was "Kathnis"- the place where criminals and the violence was present every day. The worst people lived there to pay their debts.

The district of "Maia" and "Rose" were supposed to make their plans to live underground. The drill was quick, so the people were saved and could live there with new gas, that replaced oxygen. But the last district was supposed to live under the big cloud of smog, because the "Maia" district wanted to make the worst people to live in agony. It didn't make sense at all, because the "Wonder City" was created to make people the same, not divide them into nations.

The "Kathnis" decided to make a rebellion and take down those who ruled the "Maia" district. They wanted to do it not with war but with peace. The group of "Rose" wanted to help them in the rebellion. The situation wasn't easy. The "Maia" knew that some day the rest of the people would want to take them down, so they created an army. It happened with some consequences- people started a new war between the poor and the rich. For five years people were fighting to survive. "The Rose" and "The Kathnis" dissolved the "Maia" district for good. People could live underground now and they started to live in eco way. They even decided to make a new name for the city because the old one "Wonder City" made them feel bad because of the situation of the battle among the districts. They called the city "Kathnis Paradise"
