

World Trade Center
The construction of the World Trade Center towers officially began on August 5, 1966. But the first foundations of the north tower were built in August 1968. Construction took two years, until December 23, 1970, when it reached a height of 417 meters... It lost its title of the tallest building in the world in 1974 after the completion of the Sears Tower.
